Rabat, June 16th, 2021

With the support of its Scientific Committee, The Moroccan Capital Market Authority, is launching the AMMC Research Award to promote and encourage academic research on topics related to the capital market. The AMMC Research Award is dedicated to researchers whose work contributes to the advancement of research in one of the following areas:

- Long-term financing via markets;
- Liquidity and valuation of financial instruments;
- Futures market and clearinghouse;
- Asset management;
- Microstructure of financial markets;
- FinTech and financial markets (ICO, crypto-assets ...);
- Participative finance.

Applicants for the AMMC Research Award must be Ph.D. students or Ph.D. holders, under 40, holding Moroccan nationality, affiliated to an academic institution in Morocco or abroad or holding a foreign nationality, and affiliated to an academic institution in Morocco. Further details on participation terms are available on the Authority's website. The AMMC Research Award, worth MAD 50,000, attests to its commitment to promoting innovation in capital markets, as well as strengthening its ties with the academic world.
